

Paris Nautic Show 2025: Groupe Beneteau unveils ambitious program with presentation of 30 exceptional models

Saint-Gilles-Croix-de-Vie, Tuesday, November 18, 2025

A must-see event in the nautical industry, the Paris Nautic Show will make its grand return from November 26 to 30, 2025, for the first time at the Parc des Expositions in Paris-Le Bourget (93). On this occasion, Groupe Beneteau and its nine brands will present around thirty models illustrating the richness and complementarity of the Group's offering, as well as its desire to support all sailing practices and desires.

Visionary concepts presented in a world premiere

Groupe Beneteau and its brands will unveil several innovations, including three world premieres:

The Beneteau brand will present the Gran Turismo 50, a new model in the Gran Turismo range, born from an unprecedented collaboration with Alpine, another iconic French brand. This sporty motorboat combines elegance, performance, and excellence in craftsmanship, three values shared by the automotive and nautical industries. With its revolutionary design and exclusive finishes inspired by Alpine, this flagship model perfectly illustrates the dialogue between two exceptional worlds.

Jeanneau will unveil the Sea Loft 480, a boat that responds both to changing boating habits and the Group's ambition to reduce the intensity of its CO₂ emissions by 30% by 2030. Featuring hybrid propulsion, a new-generation hull, and autonomous energy management, this model offers the perfect balance between comfort and sustainability: it halves fuel consumption while improving onboard comfort thanks to quieter and smoother sailing.

Jeanneau will also launch the Sun Odyssey 455 as a world premiere. This new-generation sailboat is designed for long-distance cruising enthusiasts seeking elegance, performance, and comfort. With its contemporary lines, optimized cockpit, and light-filled interior, it embodies the spirit of innovation and adventure that drives Groupe Beneteau.

"The return of the Paris Nautic Show, a historic event for our French customers, is excellent news for our industry. As the world leader in boating, Groupe Beneteau had a duty to participate actively. I am very proud that our Group, which has set itself the goal of launching 66 new models by 2027, is presenting 30 models at this event, including several world premieres. This program reflects our ambition: to offer each of our customers experiences tailored to their sailing desires." - Bruno Thivoyon, Chairman of Groupe Beneteau Executive Board

A new generation of boats for all sailing desires

The Groupe Beneteau's Dayboating division, which includes motorboats ranging from 6 to 12 meters in length designed for day cruising, will present several flagship models:

The Antares 9 New from Beneteau. True to the heritage of the Antares range, this model showcases the Group's expertise in designing elegant, modern, and safe boats. Designed for weekend getaways at sea, this new version offers greater comfort, conviviality, and ease of maneuvering, while harmoniously balancing interior and exterior space.

The Jeanneau Cap Camarat 9.0 CC Série2. Designed for day trips with family or friends, this model combines performance, comfort, and ease of use. Its sleek design and technological innovations offer a smooth and user-friendly sailing experience, in line with the Group's desire to make the pleasure of the sea accessible to all.

The Merry Fisher 1095 Fly Série2 from Jeanneau. This model reinvents weekend getaways with a design optimized for comfort and modular layouts. A true signature of Jeanneau's expertise, it combines well-being, freedom, and elegance for a unique experience at sea.

Catamarans will also be making a comeback in Paris. The Excess and Lagoon brands will be presenting full-size multihulls for the first time at Le Bourget, including the Excess 13 and Lagoon 38, boats prized for their comfort, livability, and sailing qualities.

Sustainable boating, the central theme of the Paris Nautic Show 2025

Sustainable boating, the central theme of this year's show, will be at the heart of Groupe Beneteau's presence at the Paris Nautic Show 2025. The group, together with its partners, will offer an educational tour accessible to all visitors, to help them better understand how to design, build, and recycle a boat. (Hall 3 – Stand A26)

This journey will take place on the joint stand of Groupe Beneteau and its partners in the Industrial Alliance for Circular Boatbuilding: Veolia (waste management and environmental services), Composite Recycling (composite recycling), Arkema (specialty materials), Owens Corning (glass reinforcements), and Chomarar (technical textiles).

Launched in March 2025, this initiative marks a key step towards a more responsible nautical, aeronautical, automotive, and wind energy industry by promoting the use of recycled materials and reducing the sector's environmental footprint.
